Connecting People to Solve Problems

MISSION

Meridian Institute helps people solve complex and controversial problems, make informed decisions, and implement solutions that improve lives, the economy, and the environment.

WHAT WE WORK ON

Drawing from over two decades of experience, we help people develop and implement solutions across these issues:

WHO WE WORK WITH

We work with people and groups with diverse interests to solve issues at local, national, and global scales.

Civil Society

Government

Business

Scientists and Researchers

International Organizations

Indigenous Peoples

OUR SERVICES

As a neutral third-party, we bring people together to listen to one another, build trusted working relationships, forge consensus, and implement solutions to complex and controversial problems. Through our projects, we:

Design collaborations and partnerships

Provide strategic advice and planning

Convene key participants, tapping our extensive networks

Implement consensus outcomes

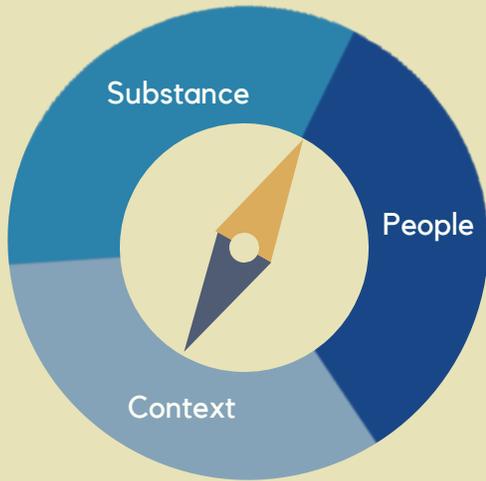

Facilitate and build consensus

Manage travel, logistics, and communications

OUR APPROACH

We design and manage collaboration. As a trusted convener, we do not have predetermined outcomes. Instead, we customize each process to address the unique needs of the people involved, the issues, the context, and the timeline.

Substance: What are the critical issues and information?

People: Who are the key parties? How can they engage effectively?

Context: What are the relevant external factors? When do decisions need to be made?

OUR IMPACTS

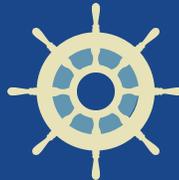

Our work results in actions that make a difference. For instance, we broker partnerships between industry, civil society organizations, and governments to mitigate supply chain impacts on communities and the environment. We design and facilitate organizational strategic planning efforts that help institutions maximize their potential. We work with partners as they conceive of and launch new institutions. These are just a few outcomes from the hundreds of projects we have successfully executed over the past 20 years.

Consensus policy recommendations and implementation

Public-private partnerships

Organizational strategic plans

Collaborative management plans

Incubation of new institutions
